Dear Whānau

The use of technology in teaching proves to be contradictory. On the one hand it is a great tool for helping students to research and study, on the other, it is the single biggest distraction in the classroom.

In a recent Sunday Star Times (1/5/16), there was an interesting article on Screenagers. Within the article, the following facts were included regarding NZ youth (16 – 24):

- 81% have a smartphone – the portability of the device making it like an extension of their arm
- On average, they spend 8.9 hours a day consuming media (two hours of television and five hours on the internet)
- They are media multi-taskers. 65% dual or multi-screen while watching TV

Social Media expert and lecturer at Canterbury University talks about the “technology value gap” between parents and teens. Parents (having grown up internet free) want face to face communication whilst teens want to communicate via technology.

Technology in itself is not a bad thing. Social media can be a great way of keeping in touch, but there are pitfalls to using technology. Some researchers believe that too much screen time shortens attention spans and is detrimental to developing brains, while others believe that what children watch is more important than how long they watch for. Unless you have access to their viewing history and regularly check it, monitoring what they watch, except on a home computer is very difficult and relies on excellent communication between parent and child.

Schools too have to work out how to encourage students to bring and use their own devices sensibly whilst preventing them from being a distraction in class. Schools are able to make their own policies. Some policies include:

- Students hand their phone in to the Office staff at the start of the day and pick it up at home time (so that students are not texting, gaming, wired into their music during lessons)
- Phones are not allowed to be used in PE changing rooms (to stop sexting)
- Phones are not allowed in the playground (to stop cyberbullying)

In a recent SBHS survey sample about bullying, 5% of students attested to being cyberbullied. Comparatively, this is a relatively low response, but obviously not low enough for those who are the victims. Cyberbullying, like any bullying, is damaging, and more so because it is in the public arena and the perpetrators are “faceless” and this is extended to all of those who unthinkingly comment.

And adults use and misuse technology too. When thinking about how we might help our children use their devices in a positive way, we also have to be mindful that we have to model that. It’s hard to tell a teenager that they are overusing their screen time when we are glued to Facebook ourselves. Do what I say not what I do has not ever been a successful parenting strategy!

Our policy at SBHS, is for all devices to be switched off in class unless the teacher allows the student to use them for learning. This works well when students are willing to co-operate and most are. Issues arise when the student doesn’t see why they can’t take a phone call in class, “It’s my Mum, I have to take it,” or “I’ll turn it off when I’ve sent this text / finished my game.” These are the distractors that disrupt learning for the whole class, not just for the student who is misusing the device.

The Civil War
Next week the curtain lifts on our Australasian Premiere of The Civil War at Centrestage Theatre. Rehearsals are nearly over, and the students are ready for an audience. Drawing on letters, diaries, firsthand accounts, and the words of Abraham Lincoln, Frederick Douglass and Walt Whitman, The Civil War is a thrilling, gut-wrenching and awe-inspiring dramatic theatrical concert that covers the enormous emotional landscape of the most difficult test a nation will ever endure. This epic thematic revue, reminiscent of Ken Burns’ acclaimed documentary, puts a human face on the greatest tragedy of American history, exploring not only the experiences of the soldiers and leaders who fought for their way of life and the lovers and families they left behind, but also the hopes and fears of the slaves whose freedom was at stake. It passionately asks us to consider our beliefs about freedom, honour and faith.

The show runs for three performances only, at 7:30pm on Tuesday 17, Wednesday 18 and Thursday 19 of May, at Centrestage Theatre. Tickets are on sale at TicketDirect (Cue on Don or online) now – Adults $20, Senior Citizens/Students with ID $15. Service fees will apply.

Learning Support
Head of learning support
As a parent, you may be aware there is extra assistance available to students in New Zealand schools.

At Southland Boys’ High we have a Head of Learning Support (Robyn Laidlaw) who will be available to talk to if you think your son may need extra support at school.

Some of the extra supports we have or can access are:
- Literacy support via a Literacy leader (Nic Lamont) and specialist trained Teacher Aides who take students 1:1 for extra reading/writing and comprehension work.
- Mentoring, with older students supporting younger students.
- Home rooms in the senior school. These classes are set up to support students who work better with fewer transitions around the school and who may need extra curriculum support.
- Guidance support. Guidance referrals can come from parents or teachers and students can also self-refer.
- Tutor teachers: each student belongs to a Tutor Group and they see their Tutor Teacher every day. The tutor teacher monitors overall progress.
- Referrals to Resource Teachers of Learning and Behaviour (RTLB): completed with parental permission, these referrals allow an outside teacher to come into SBHS to work alongside the classroom teacher to plan and make changes to curriculum delivery. This also allows for some Teacher Aide funding, where appropriate, to be targeted to a student or group of students for a short period of time.
- Referral to Special Education (SE): these referrals are also completed with parental permission and are usually for students who are displaying intensive behaviour issues that could restrict their placement at SBHS.
- Special Assessment Conditions – this is a more complex process that requires identification of needs as early as possible and the collection of data to show what support best meets the needs of the individual. Special Assessment Conditions (SAC) are applied for by the school to the Ministry of Education and, if granted, allow the student to have support that meets their needs in NCEA assessments both internal and external assessments.
- SPELD assessments, to identify reading issues, are provided by an outside assessor and the cost is paid by the parents.

Drive a Dream

On March 29 The Rotary Club of Invercargill East held their “Drive a Dream” Fundraiser.

At 8:30 am on a cool morning we arrived at Teretonga Raceway with a chance to experience a once in a life time opportunity. All 70 participants were split into 6 groups and then sent out to one of the six activities. Our group first went to the race track. Here we all hopped into either a Mini, Ford or Nissan and were strapped in and raced around the track at speeds over 190kmh. After this thrilling experience we moved to the Trucks/Tractors. Although most of us had already had previous experience with these vehicles’ I haven’t. I learnt the basics of how to drive a tractor and also got taken for a drive in the concrete mixer and HWR truck. After this we went to the 4WD trucks which took us to the Sandy Point bushes where we completed a 4WD track which included manoeuvring the truck through tight bush and also travelling up and down very steep, muddy hills. We then travelled in old cars down to the river where we got to drive a jet boat, ride a horse and also control a digger.

Thanks to Mr Jackson and SBHS for this marvellous opportunity to experience things which I haven’t had the opportunity to try. If you get the chance to go in the future, you need to take the chance

Rural Women New Zealand Southland Forestry

A committee is responsible for overseeing the management of Southland Rural Women New Zealand’s Forestry located in the Castledowns area near Dipton.

Rural Women New Zealand formerly known as Women’s Division of Federated Farmers was gifted 292 acres (118 hectares) of land by George and Adam Hamilton in 1948 in recognition of the contribution WDFF made in the rural areas. The ground is planted out in trees and managed by Craig Pine on our behalf, all proceeds going to charity. Rural Women New Zealand like to participate in a positive way in their communities therefore we would like to extend the opportunity of a Bursary to a Coldstream House boarder.

The ongoing bursary for Coldstream House, would be for a Year Nine Student that will be attending Coldstream House, the amount is for $1,000.00 and the payment to the student is for one year only.

An application form will be sent out to all new Yr 9 boarders’ families at the start of each year.

2016 recipient is Gareth Turnock. Gareth is pictured with his parents Dale and Kathy Turnock. Ann Irving from the Rural Women NZ Southland Forestry Committee is presenting Gareth with the bursary. Sue Mills Hostel Manager was also present.
Mr and Mrs Heslip have two grandsons currently attending SBHS and they have kindly donated a number of non-fiction books to the Library. These books include biographies of New Zealand personalities such as Sophie Pascoe and Robbie Deans. There is also a collection of books on infamous cases that include Scott Watson, Rex Haig and David Bain.

The family of the late Barrie Williams have gifted an extensive collection of non-fiction items. Mr Williams was a student here from 1963 – ’67 and his two grand-nephews currently attend SBHS. This collection covers a wide range of topics that will be of great interest to our students. We are especially excited to boost our Southland history section with treasures including the gold rush period, early Maori history, and local districts.

If you have books at home about New Zealand history, particularly pertaining to Invercargill and Southland that you would like to gift to the school, these would be of great benefit to our students’ research.

If there are any other books that you might like to donate then please contact Senga White or Suzanne Muir ph 211 3003 ext 864
Old Boys’ Catchup – 4th May.

Tales of fishing boats, America’s Cup, seismic surveys, working in Azerbaijan & the Caspian Sea, and avoiding trouble in the Middle East conflict, kept approximately 50 Old Boys very attentive at our first social event for some years. Our guest speaker, Mac Chaplin, proved that his mantra of “never turn down an opportunity” can result in some rather extreme experiences, if not actually dangerous ones!

Rector Ian Baldwin paid tribute to several Old Boys and staff who had made a significant contribution to both the School and the Old Boys Association over the years, and displayed items of interest that related to some of them. (see photos)

President Jim Watson outlined plans to revive Old Boys’ Association activities, and to create a modern database whereby regular contact can be maintained. A long term plan is to facilitate access between Old Boys, so that, for example, class or regional “catchups” can be arranged around the country. An invitation was also extended to any Old Boy who could assist in any way, either by becoming a Committee member, or by suggesting how you would like to see the Association operate – any input will be welcome!

All in all, a very enjoyable evening, and the food prepared by Scott Richardson and the boys was much appreciated.

Ken Bowie
Secretary.

Rugby: Otago pair selected for New Zealand under-20 squad

Two Otago youngsters are about to head to the other side of the world.

But it will not be to the Oktoberfest or the Running of the Bulls.

Sio Tomkinson and Shaun Stodart have been picked for the New Zealand under-20 side, which is travelling to Manchester in the United Kingdom next month, to compete in the world junior championships.

Tomkinson, a midfielder for Harbour, and Stodart, a prop for Southern, were both members of the New Zealand schools team in 2014.

Tomkinson said it was a thrill to make the team and he was looking forward to the trip.

Tomkinson, who turns 20 at the end of this month, is in his second year out of Otago Boys’ High School and is now a member of the Highlanders squad.

An ankle injury at the start of the season has limited his chances of playing for the franchise but he has returned to full fitness.

His goal was to be an All Black but, for the moment, Tomkinson just wants to get on the field for the New Zealand colts side and make an impact.

New Zealand won the tournament in Italy last year but has been drawn in a tough pool this year with Wales, Ireland and Georgia to play in preliminary games.

The Otago duo were both in the national colts side which toured the Gold Coast earlier this month and played two games against Australia for a win and a loss.

Stodart is a former Southland Boys High School pupil and plays prop for the Southern club.

He turned 20 in March. Tournament players have to be aged under 20 at the start of the year.

The process to make the team was a long one, involving two week-long camps and players whittled down over time.

Stodart said the pressure was on all the time and it involved plenty of work.

A commerce student at the University of Otago, he may take a break from his studies with all his rugby commitments.

The team will head to Mount Maunganui on May 27, followed by a game against the Chiefs development side on May 30.

The team is coached by Canterbury coach Scott Robertson and includes six Super rugby players.

There are brothers of two All Blacks in the team- midfield back Jordie Barrett and lock Fin Hoeata are younger brothers of Beauden Barrett and Jarrad Hoeata.

Rider Profile - CORBIN STRONG

Age: 15
Bike: Fuji SST
Sponsors: Stabicraft and Wensleys Cycles
Specialty: Climbing/Track
Notable results: 5 golds, 1 Silver at 2016 track nationals and Individual Pursuit NZ record
Favourite race: Hilltop finish
Favourite training ride: Central Otago NZ
What does an average training week look like: Riding 6-7 days a week 400-500 km 1-2 gym sessions
Favourite racing nutrition: Nuts and Green tea

Corbin Strong can take plenty of confidence heading towards October’s Oceania track cycling championships. The 16-year-old finished third in the under-17 boys’ category at the Canberra junior tour over the weekend and also claimed the King of the Mountains jersey. Corbin found the racing challenging.

“I really enjoyed it, it was a lot different to the New Zealand racing, it was a lot harder,” he said. He entered the race as an individual, not knowing much about the other competitors, but the mainly Australian field quickly found out about Strong after winning the first stage after the time trial.

“The first stage I wasn’t too happy with it, but it was alright, the first road stage which was the first on the tour was a really hard day a bunch of six of us got away up a hill we finished in a breakaway at the end of the stage and I won that stage.”

“After that stage, everyone in the race knew who I was I had a few eyes on me and I was battling it out.”

The 140km four stage course held over two days was shorter than other events Strong has participated in, but it was the most difficult.

“It was a bit shorter than other tours, but the course was a lot harder than other races I have done,” he said.

“The standard of riders and the way that everyone raced, aggressive racing.”

Achievements

Please let us know of your son’s achievements and we are happy to put this on our website and in the newsletters. We rely on parents advising us as the sporting codes do not inform us of our student’s achievements.

Andrea Mulligan has permission slips, these are sent to classes and also emailed home for all year 7&8 students. Year 9-13 forms are held in the Sports Office. We will not accept late entries for any sports as these dates are set by the sporting codes as they need to arrange draws, team lists etc.
Sports News

Rugby
All boys playing must have their permission forms and payment to the payments office by 16 May 2015 – boys who have not paid by this date will be ineligible to play.

A massive congrats goes to former Southland Boys High first XV member and Captain Shaun Stodart who has been selected for the New Zealand under 20s to compete at this year’s tournament in England. A massive effort from a massive man.

In other rugby news the first XV have a had a solid start to the season with 2 wins and 2 close loses in the Dunedin premier club competition. The signs are positive for a very good season.

The rest of the teams are under way and playing well. Once again Southland Boys teams across all grades will be hard to bet.

In 2016 the Royal New Zealand Navy (RNZN) is celebrating our 75th anniversary as the independent maritime arm of the New Zealand Defence Force. During this year, we would like to engage with secondary school pupils, teachers, and wider communities throughout New Zealand through a competition that engages the creative energy of pupils and aligns with educational outcomes including the NCEA syllabus.

We would like the competition to draw in the widest possible range of creative talent. This is a unique opportunity for students to develop a creative proposal, developing a project that aligns with their strengths and areas of interests.

Themes

“Our Navy: courage, commitment, comradeship”

“Our Navy: our roots, our story, our mission”

Concept

Competition applicants are to submit a proposal using a template (provided by the Navy) to describe their proposal and the medium in which they propose to work, and how this supports the competition theme.

From these proposals, six finalists will be selected to bring their proposal to fruition.

These finalists will be given free travel to visit the Naval Base and meet naval people, as well as a contribution towards the cost of developing their proposal.

Sué’s passion and determination (alongside her husband Carl and two sons) has seen her organisation grow from caring for four abandoned children in 2004 to around 800 children daily in 2016. Orphans Aid projects extend from Russia and Romania to India, Nepal and now Uganda. Sue is also a successful author having launched her own autobiography “Rescue” in 2011. She has also had three feature documentaries made on her work and featured on TVNZ and other networks. Her organisation is seeing forgotten children placed in loving homes.

Health & Safety Information
ILT Stadium Southland is committed to providing and maintaining a safe facility to all members of the public. All children participating in the Clip N Climb ‘Beyond the Limits’ programme will receive a safety briefing at the beginning of each session from our qualified Clip N Climb instructor. It is important that your child listens to this briefing and understands the rules of the climbing area. We encourage parents and caregivers to join the children for the safety briefing so they also understand the expectations and rules of the climbing area and the Beyond the Limits programme.

Rock climbing is an inherently risky activity. I understand that there are risks associated with taking part in the ‘Beyond the Limits’ programme and that these risks cannot be completely eliminated. I understand that ILT Stadium Southland will identify any foreseeable risks or hazards and implement correct management procedures to eliminate, isolate or minimise those hazards. I agree to my child taking part in the ‘Beyond the Limits’ programme and have received sufficient information on which to base a decision. I agree to their participation in the activity described. I acknowledge the need for them to behave responsibly. I agree to notify the climbing instructor of any special needs or learning difficulties my child has which may affect their understanding of the safety briefing. I will also notify the instructor of any injuries which may affect my child’s ability to climb. I understand that my child must follow the supervisors instructions at all times and failing to do so may mean my child is stopped from climbing. I know that I am able to ask any questions about the activities my child will be involved in, to gain a better understanding of the risks involved. My child and I both understand that they may withdraw from an activity if they feel at risk. This must be done in consultation with the person in charge. I understand that ILT Stadium Southland does not accept responsibility for loss or damage to personal property. I understand that this is a no refunds policy associated with this climbing programme as spaces are limited. The $50 for the climbing programme must be paid prior to the beginning of the programme to confirm a place. The payment covers all six sessions and any missed sessions by a participant cannot be made up at another date.
